Says the Idaho Avalanche: If some of the gentlemen who are in favor of re-pealing the Desert Land Act would visit our country and ride over the thousands of acres of sagebrush land, that is now of acres of sagebrush land, that is now only fit for a jackrabbit that is willing to live on greasewood or sagebrush, or half rations, and view the vast expanse of dry land lying along the banks of Snake river extending to the foothills, upon which water cannot be brought, except at great expense, we think that they would be in favor of the Government appropriating enough money to construct causes to flood the country and make it maiketable for the numerous make it marketable for the numerous persons who would then aval themselves of the land which is now worthless, ex-cept for Winter ranges for cattle and horses that subsist upon the sagebrush and white sage during that season of the

Property in Copyright. Washington, July 3 .- Judge Ham-

mond, of the United States Court, today forwarded to be filed his opinion involving the copyright of James G. Blaine's "Twenty Years in Congress." The case was argued before Judge Hammond while holding Court for Judge Sage in Ohio, and is said to go further than any previous decision in the protection of author's property in their books. The Bell Publishing Company sell Blaine's book only by subscription, and has done everything possible to keep it away from the general trade, but au agent, to whom they sent copies for delivery, sold books to dealers and pocketed the money. Some copies of this purchase were procured by an Ohio merchant with notice of the fraud, and Judge Hammond restrains him from selling them, holding it piracy on the copyright to sell without the author's consent surreptitionsly obtained copies of a genuine print as it is to sell unlawfully printed copies. The opinion holds that it is the duty of the proposed dealer, when he knows a book is sold only by subscription, to make inquiry as to the authority of any one offering to sell in any other mode, and the failure to make inquiry is equivalent to notice of the iraud. The Act of Congress is held to have conferred on the author a monopoly of the sale, which is itself an incident to property, and that one is entitled to be protected in the exclusive use of that which is exclusively his. The following quotation from the opinion will explain its scope of argument: "I do not exalt literary property above other kinds, or hedge it about with a divinity of right and remedy, but place it in the category of all other rights, only finding that because of its delicate and peculiar character it is ospecially liable to piratical depredation like that attempted in this case, whereby the owner loses his fair profits, and Congress has provided as a convoy for it a fleet of rights and remedies particularly adapted for its defense against pirates, whether they sail under the black flag of the marauding pirate or the ordinary flags of commerce displayed for the purpose of spoliation."

Sniftvan and Mitchell.

Sullivan and Mitchell met Sunday by accident at Gabe Case's road house. Sullivan looked as though he wanted to fight then and there, but his promises to Sheedy, his manager, and the knowledge that if he licked Mitchell he would probably have to lick a policeman and a lot of other people, kept him quiet. He walked up to the audacious Englishman, slapped him on the back and said "Hello, Charley; jou're looking fine." Mitchell told Sullivan that he was looking fine also. It was all lovely until Mitchell said, "I am sorry we didn't come together." Then Sullivan's eyes flashed up with the fighting five and he said, "Don't be in a hurry; we have got to meet, and when we do I'll do you certain." As he spoke he edged to Mitchell, and a row was coming very fast, but Sullivan's friends got him away.

Senator Mitchell, of Michigan, yesterday submitted and proposed an amendment to the General Deficiency Appropriation bill to provide for the payment to John Roach and son, the sum of $20,270 for warfage and the care of the monitor Rosnoke, from March 17, 1877, to the time of its sale in 1883, including towing and pilotage and to pay them $38,840 in full for cost of changing the iron frame of the Puritan.

The Tribune's Abilene (Tex.) special says: Gloomy reports are received daily of the condition of the Texas wool clip, The average clip is 40,000,000 pounds-The crop this year is 15,000,000 pounds short. Thousands of sheep have died from the drought. There will be no mutton to ship this year. Eastern wool buyers are unable to obtain the usual amount of wool and purchases are all having run about fifteen miles from the liver the goods has something to do made on private terms.

THE HUMBOLDT VALLEY.

Resources as a Stock Growing

Northwestern Live Stock Journal.

It was the good fortune of the writer to have the pleasure of making a some-what extended tour of the Humboldt Valley, in Nevada, a short time since, and from our notes, taken from the standpoint of a practical cattleman, the following article will be made up. The region in question is possessed of most

WONDERFUL RESOURCES

And a detailed account of each vale and mountain slops would be interesting reading. But the space allotted to newspaper articles forbids more than a general glance at the country and a summary of its favorable conditions.

CATTLE COUNTRY.

In the fullest meaning of the phrase The gifts of nature are diversified in character and scattered from pole to pole. Yet when each is viewed from a proper point of observation the fitness of all nature's handlwork is readily rec-ognized. The "cowman," when he un-derstands the situation in the Humboldt county, at once declares that there was no mistake made in fashioning it for the finest specimens of the boyine race.

The valley proper begins near the famous

MUMBOLDT WELLS,

Say twenty-five miles west of the eastern boundary of the State of Nevada, and bears a little south of west for a distance of about three hundred miles. It varies in width from a narrow canyon of a few hundred yards to a

BROAD OPEN PLAIN

Of fifteen miles. The soil is almost universally rich in productive qualities, when properly controlled, but at the same time exceedingly varied in appearance and natural conditions. There are the "meadows," as the settlers call the low, first bottoms, covered with tall, green grass. The second bottom, generally having a growth of small sagebrush and some alkali; the third bottom, or very gentle slope, with larger sage-brush and grease-wood, and the rolling table lands and low ridges cov-ered in like manner with rich green sward.

Many of the meadows produce a NATIVE CLOVER

In connection with the coarser grass that is possessed of all the nutritive qualities of the bost varieties of the cultivated clovers. One and a half to two and a half tons of choice hay to the acre is the average crop from these lands.

In some localities the higher bottoms, and especially along the bordering foothills, produce very fine bay, but as a rule there is not sufficient grass to jus-tify mowing. Scattered all among the sage-brush, however, is a very considerable quantity of what is known as

BUNCH GRASS, Probably the richest in nutritious elements of any of the grasses. Bordering the valley on either side are high mountains extending for its en-tire distance, save where cut by the out-

HUNDREDS OF SPARKLING STREAMS.

That flow into the Humboldt river. The Humboldt itself is a very respectable river in size, with low backs and sufficient current to keep the water page. This stream is fed and made up by the following named tributaries from the north, beginning near the village of Wells: Bishop's Creek, fifteen miles long; Burnt creek, twenty old miles in ength; Taber creek, twenty-four miles long, with half a dozen unnumed creeks emptying into it, each several miles in length; Mary's river, or as some call it, the North Hamboldt, fifty miles in length with two score or more of tributary streams; North Fork, fifteen miles; Twin creek and numerous branches: Jackson creek, ten miles long; Suste oreek, thirty miles long; Maggie Creek, forty or fifty miles long, with numerous branches; Bob's creek, ten miles long; Bogus creek, with half a dozen branches Rock Creek, heading away north in the Owyhee bluffs and flowing south about fifty miles with a multitude of small steams tributary; Kelley creek, twenty-five miles long, with various branches; Lattle Humboldt river, thirty odd miles in length, watering the celebrated Paradise Valley.

Besides these there are many small and short streams that have not been raised to the dignity of a name. Bordering all of these streams are.

FINE VALLEY AND BOTTOM LANDS, Similar in character to those above described,

On the south side of the river, beginning near the same starting point as before, Wells, there are six running streams from three to ten miles in length in a distance of fifteen miles. Then comes Bender Creek, six miles long. Again there are six or seven creeks in the next eight miles, all of them

LIVING STREAMS.

Three to five miles long. Then comes Lamoille Creek, twenty miles long, with half a dozen branches near its source in the foot hill of the mountains. Four miles below Lamoille Greek empties with the scarcity of customers.

The south fork of the Humboldt is Its Wonderful Present Prespective miles, and many tributary streams. Passing one or two short creeks we arrive at the mouth of Pine Creek, having a length of twenty-five or thirty miles and many small feeders.

For the next thirty-five miles there are no streams of any size running into the Humboldt, but the valley is generally wide and

HUMBOLDI LAKE.

The first of a series of lakes into which the waters of the Humboldt river flow. and from which they are absorbed by the earth and drank up by evaporation. The elevation of this basin is 2,900 feet, the lowest spot in the valley, and the Summer's heat is sufficient to cause rapid evaporation of the accumulated waters from above. Originally there were very extensive natural meadows surrounding this lake, and the yield of grass was something astonishing. Twenty odd years ago a stone dam was constructed across the mouth, or autlet, of this take, whence the surplus waters escaped into a second basin or lake a few miles to the south. The dam was made to secure a water power for mining operations in the vicinity, and the result was the overflow of these natural meadows. Later the settlers in the valley above, upon whose claims the peut waters accumulated, became disgusted, and under cover of the night blew up the dam. There was an area of

A REPUBLICAN SACIA CANDI-DATE WANTED IN NEVADA.

The Salt Lake Democrat says:

The Republican politician and strikers of Nevada are casting about frantically for a man with a sack to le. I the Senatorial fight in that State this Fall. It appears that Hon. W. M. Stewart does not fill the bill in that particular. It is generally conceded that he will receive the moral and political support of the railroad corporations and probably that of the bonanza enemies of Mr. Fair. It is understood, however, that there is no sack behind him, his supporters expecting him to pull through with such influence as they can bring to bear without drawing upon their treasures, purses or pockets. This does not suit the Republican patriots of the battleborn State, for with them an ounce of metallic argument is worth more to them than a ton of such support as is proposed for the oily und tongued ex-Senator who has lately taken up his residence at Carson. They believe in the greatest goodto the greatest number, and a couple of hundred thousand dollars distributed among the faithfui brethren would be decidedly preferable to the moral má that all of the corpoutions and millionaires of the Coast could possibly contribute. These patriot peace makers have not yet met with much success in their search for an available man. Mackay has too much sense to desire a position for which he knows be is totally unfitted, and the requirements of which would only render him ridicalous. Stevenson calculated the honorary value of the position in connection with its metallic cost, posted up his banks and respectfully declined to in-vest. W. S. Hobart, the four or five-ply millionaire, has been beset by "friends" to shy his castor (and sack) into the ring, but has thus far evinced no symptoms of Senatorial fever, and there appears but little probability of his contracting the disease. Wren and Powning are but few thousand dollar men. and having no outside pecuniary backing, are not regarded by their party munipulators as entitled to serious consideration. Thus the matter stands with the Republicans of our neighboring State. They profess to have a United States Senatorship to sell, but can find no purchaser. The party papers have for the last year been advertising for a mendidate with the necessary require-ments, but without success. Perhaps distrust in the ability of the party to de-

RATLHOAD NOTES ,-At the Sacramento railroad shops four new locomotives are being built for the Southern Pacific Company. Three hundred fruit cars for fast trains are also being constructed, which will increase the number of regular truit cars of all kinds owned by the company to 450. The new cars will be completed during the Summer. Each car will be thirty feet long, and will have double doors, double walls and ventilators. About twenty of the old "Silver Palace" sleeping-cars are being converted into regular coaches.

Six new baggage-cars have just been received by the Southern Pacific Company from Pullman, Ill., where they were made, and where a number of coaches are being constructed for its

Although the railroad people have no doubt that oil-burning locomotives will over their lines on this coast, the experiments thus far have not been very oncouraging. The two Central Pacific locomotives fitted up with oil-consuming apparatus are now idle. They have made several trips, but the engineers complain of the difficulty in distributing the quantity of oil carried and used, as the change of grade which is constantly recurring causes concentration. Then, too, there must be a lively draught, and this is not easily obtained when a locomotive is at a standstill.

RENO CORNET BAND.—The Reno band received lots of compliments on their playing at Carson Saturday, and Mr. Hastings deserves credit for the way be has trained the boys, as none of them claim to be professionals. Speaking of the Carson celebration the Enterprise, of Sanday, pays the following tribute to our home band: "The Reno band was also on hand, and performed some very excellent music during the exercises and whenever required. They were also retained to furnish the requisite music during the evening, at the breworks and closing festivities, forming a very acceptable feature of the occasion."

Runaway .-- A gray team belonging to Johnny Wilson white being driven by him yesterday noon took fright at the cars and threw him out, scratching and bruising him up a litt'e, but not seriously. The team continued on down Virginia street across the river, and out through the sagabrush and rocks back of R. H. Lindsay's house, where hey came to a stop without doing much damage to the outlit.

PHBENOLOGICAL LECTURE .- Prof. Me-Donald has postponed his phrenological lecture at Nevada Theatre until Thursday night. Scats reserved for ladies. Admission free.

CHARLIE REED TO-NIGHT .- The Virginia Enterprise, of yesterday, speaks as follows of the troupe to play at the Nevada Theater to-night:

A large audience attended Charlie Reed's troupe's performance last night. The bill was well selected, and passed off smoothly and to the satisfaction of all present. The company is a strong one, and possesses all the elements of a first-class comedy-variety combination. It is doubtful whether Fred. W. Millis, in bis specialty of ventriloguism, bas his equal, much less his superior, in this country. His performance is ex-quisite, and as near perfection as human faculty can reach. Without the least perceptible effort or facial movement he throws his voice, in various intonations, over the full space of the stage, adopting the peculiarities of the human voice in its different stages of age and volubility, and demonstrates his wonderful power over that organ. His singing is especially noticeable from the variety and compass of tones, and received well merited applause. His local bits were well interwoven in the dialogue of his little figures, and were received with shouts of laughter.

Charlie Reed, who has fairly earned the reputation as one of the brightest minstrel performers on the American stage, was at his best last night. He has an extensive repertoire of new comic songs; his sayings are quaint and pungent, and his dry hamor, given with a bort of artistic nonchalance kept the house in a constant roar. He is original in all his work, and the charm with which he utters the commonest joke stamps bum an artist of decided ment in his line of business.

Harry Shirley, the musical king, who plays on a number of instruments, did well and was applauded.

Pat. Reilly, in his Irish songs, followed in the footsteps of his predecessors in that line. He did excellently, but offered nothing new. His sketching, however, was a splendid performance, and must be witnessed to be approcessed. With lightning rapidity, with crayon on a large piece of canvus he drew the wreck scene from the sen-sational drama "The World," so per-fectly true to nature as to make it appear, at a distance, like an oil painting from the brush of a Rubens or Van Dyck. His colorings are delicate, his shadings exquisite and his taste in drawing beyond cavil.

Miss Florence Miller is good in her She is a very pretty blonde, per torms her acts gracefully and sings well. Wilson and Cameron, in their artistic song and dance, "Where the Honey-suckles Grow," and their burlesque circus, did excellently, and their efforts to please were generously recognized by the audience. Altogether the troupe, though comparatively small in numbers, is as strong a one of that character as has appeared here for a inny time, and to miss their entertainment is to juse a genune treat.

There will be a change of bill to-night from their last performance bere, introducing the full strength of the company in new songs, dances, acts and special ties, and tresh withcisms by the inimieventually be made to run satisfactouly fable Charlie Reed, and will doubtless, as it should, draw a crowded bouse. To-night's performance will be the farewell one of the company in this city, and our amusement-loving people should make a note of it and attend if they wish to enjoy a pleasant evening's fan and jollity. Reserved seats for this evening are only 75 cents.

REMARKABLE GROWIE.—The Truckee

Republican says:

The timber flats around what is called Galena, in Washoe county, were in 1860 a perfect forest. Six years later, the timber available was cut off, and then a five breaking out swept the remaining trees out of existence, and it was a per feet waste. Now the young growth of trees show that what has been regularly prognosticated but never believed except by the watchers of timber growth, me proving time. The same ground is covered to-day with growing pine trees, that promise in the future to furnish food for sawurils, and lumber for the mittons. Mr. Tiffany, who is one of the oldest experts in timber growth, and probably knows as much about lines and boundaries as anybody in the mountains, says that this growth is remarkable and bespeaks for the growth of new tunber that the time is coming when the entire forests that have been cut down will be renewed. Already arrangements are being made to enter and take up the land, which belongs to the Government, and very soon it will be recorded that this three or four thousand acres of land will be owned and enjoyed by residents of the coast. The ulea that once the timber is out off, the land is valueless, is dispelled. All over this county, where the timber has been out down, a fresh growth is coming up. and the hills and mountains will, in a few years reverberate to the sound of the woodunn's axe, and while the mill men are cutting down and utilizing the old growth, the new crop is coming up, and wid be ready for duty before the
